EXHIBIT 1-A

In re: FM Translator Station K265BJ
BPFT-840410ME
100.9 MHz, Channel 265A
Kenai/Soldotna, Alaska

On Nov. 7, 1984, Peninsula Communications, Inc. was granted a Construction Permit to make changes in FM Translator station K265BJ. The proposed changes were to increase transmitter output power and to change its input source to the programming of station KGTL (AM). Since receiving the grant of the Construction Permit, extensive testing was initiated of feeding the programming of KGTL (AM) via the proposed subcarriers on KGTL-FM. It was found that after extensive testing, it was technically extremely difficult to secure two operating subcarriers with 10 KHz bandwidth and an acceptable amount of crosstalk from Main channel to Subcarriers. The best performance obtained (-41 dB) was not adequate for pleasant listening and was found to be quite annoying. In summary, after months of extensive testing and consultations with the SCA system manufacturer, (Moseley Electronics) it was decided that the system was not technically feasible under the present state-of-the-art. It was found that injection levels exceeding 15-16% were required for each subcarrier in order to get adequate quieting. The maximum allowable FCC limit is 10%. Decreasing system bandwidth improved crosstalk and noise problems but was considered an unacceptable trade-off particularly in listening fidelity.

Since the grant of the CP, another development occurred which now makes it undesirable to change the programming source for K265BJ. Kenai-Soldotna is now served with a new full-time Beautiful Music formatted station "KPEN-FM 102". The proposed subcarrier feed system would not compare favorably in technical quality with KPEN-FM and therefore, the idea has less merit now than before.

THEREFORE, IT REQUESTED THAT THE INPUT SOURCE OF K265BJ BE RETAINED WITH KGTL-FM (AS BEFORE) AND THAT ONLY THE CHANGES IN POWER AND ANTENNA SYSTEMS BE MADE AS PROPOSED.

In re: FM Translator Station K265BJ
BPFT-840410ME
100.9 MHz, Channel 265A
Kenai/Soldotna, Alaska

Gentlemen:

This concerns the above-referenced application to modify the facilities of FM Translator Station K265BJ, Kenai/Soldotna, Alaska; and the companion request for waiver of Sections 74.1235(a) and 74.1231(b) of the Commission's Rules which, respectively, limit Station K265BJ's transmitter output power to 10 watts, and prescribe that "an FM translator may be used only for the purpose of retransmitting the signals of an FM broadcast station or another FM translator station" [Emphasis added.] It is noted that Station 265BJ currently rebroadcasts Station KGTL-FM, Homer, Alaska, with a transmitter power level of 10 watts.

This application proposes to increase Station K265BJ's transmitter output power to 100 watts, and to change its input source to the programming of Station KGTL(AM), Homer, Alaska, as carried on the subsidiary communications spectrum of the translator's present primary Station KGTL-FM, Homer, Alaska. In support of your request to rebroadcast Station KGTL(AM) via the Station KGTL-FM S.C.A., you state that neither Kenai or Soldotna, Alaska are currently served by a local beautiful music format radio station. You assert that in light of the Commission's "Alaska exception" to allow for extraordinary uses of the spectrum, the public interest supports a waiver of Section 74.1231(b) of the Rules. Additionally, you state that difficulties in servicing the translator's amplifier can be eliminated by mounting it on the ground, and compensating for the increased line loss by increasing the transmitter output power to 100 watts. You also state that a waiver of Section 74.1235(a) of the Rules would substantially improve reception of the translator's signal to two populated areas separated from the transmitter site by between 15 and 17 miles of hilly and rough terrain. You assert that the "Alaska exception" also justifies this waiver.

The Commission has on a number of occasions recognized the unique nature of the communications industry in Alaska and the distinct lack of adequate communications service in the state. In Wrangell Radio Group, 75 FCC 2d 404, 46 RR 2d 1329 (1979), the Commission granted applications proposing satellite-fed TV translators in seven Alaska communities. Its decision was based on the need for additional over-the-air broadcast signals to serve small, isolated communities in the state. As the Commission noted:

The State of Alaska contains numerous small, isolated, and remote villages. Many of these remote native villages are more than 500 miles apart. As a result, television broadcast signals are not readily available off-the-air in most Alaskan communities. Additionally, the tremendous cost and impracticality (in some cases impossibility) of utilizing microwave to link those communities to broadcast signal sources leaves many communities without off-the-air broadcast programming as we know it in the lower 48 states.

After careful consideration of this matter, I am of the view that in light of the Commission's special concern for the availability of broadcast programming in Alaska, the public interest showing supporting your waiver requests justifies a grant of this application.

Accordingly, and under Section 0.283 of the Commission Rules, the aforementioned application IS HEREBY GRANTED and Sections 74.1235(a) and 74.1231(b) of the Rules ARE WAIVED to permit FM Translator Station K265BJ to operate with a transmitter output power of 100 watts and to rebroadcast Station KGTL(AM) via the Station KGTL-FM subsidiary communications spectrum.

Sincerely,
